

Does your family complain about the TV being too loud? Do you have problems understanding the TV?

Do you have a problem hearing the phone ring or following a conversation when you are on the phone?

Do you have problems hearing in a group or at family gatherings?

Do you miss the alarm clock? Does it take a little more to get your attention when you are sleeping?

These products and others similar may make living with your hearing loss just a bit easier.

Ask your Audiologist if any of these products would be beneficial for you.